Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Landau.

The cited patent shows in figures 3 and 4, a cap (40) generally distal to the distal end orifice (36b), the cap (40) further including a cap distal face (18) and a cap proximal face (58a), and an injection prevention component (44) disposed generally proximal to the cap distal face (18).

Claims 1 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Landau, et al.

Figures 1, 17A, and 17b disclose a cap generally distal to the distal end orifice, the cap further including a cap distal face and a cap proximal face, and an injection prevention component disposed generally proximal to the cap distal face. Importantly, the Landau, et al., Patent discloses an injection prevention component that includes at least one of an orifice shield (figures 17A and 17b), a piston (figure 1), and a latch (figures 12A and 17b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-27 and 29-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Landau in view of Landau, et al. The Landau Patent does not disclose a piston at the distal end of the orifice and a latch. However, the use of pistons and latches at the distal end of an infusion system are conventional in the art evidenced by the teachings Landau, et al. The Landau, et al., Patent demonstrates the conventionality of using an orifice shield (figures 17A and 17b), a piston (figure 1), and a latch (figures 12A and 17b) to prevent the injection of an infusion system. Accordingly, the modification of the Landau infusion system with the above enhancements would have been considered an obvious design choice. In relation to claim 33, the cited steps are considered inherent to the apparatuses of the Landau and Landau, et al., Patents, and accordingly would have been considered obvious.
